

David Fipps, DO¹

¹Mayo Clinic Department of Psychiatry and Psychology

BACKGROUND

In the advent of COVID-19, virtual options for collaboration in educational endeavors greatly expanded among institutions. Through the Academy of Consultation Liaison Psychiatry (ACLP) Residency Education Subcommittee a webinar series was formed that allowed showcasing of ACLP's special interest groups (SIG), subcommittees, and individual expertise via a Case Conference Webinar Platform.

METHODS

A systematic approach was used for panelist selection, content creation, advertisement dissemination, practice session coordination, DEI integration, live webinar moderation, and social media sharing. Planning occurs 4-5 months in advance of the live webinar. Webinar structure includes: moderator introduction, trainee case presentation, expert discussant lecture, and question/answer session. Webinar metrics are followed including: number of registrants, returning registrants, live webinar attendance, geographic location of registrants, level of training of registrants, and YouTube views after posting.

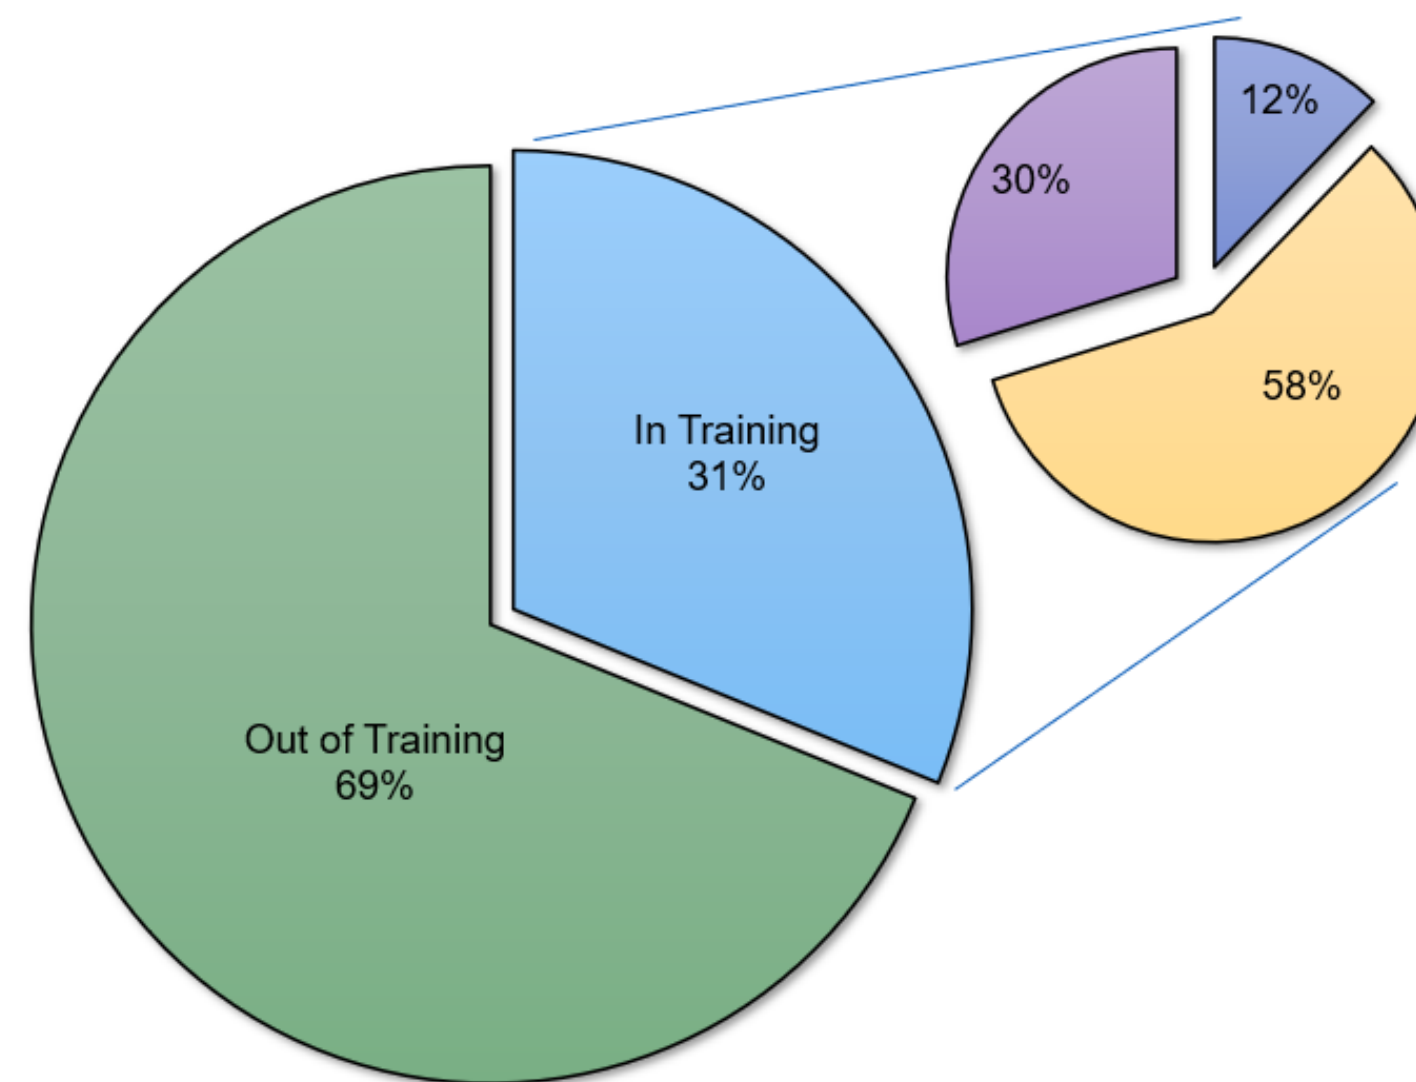

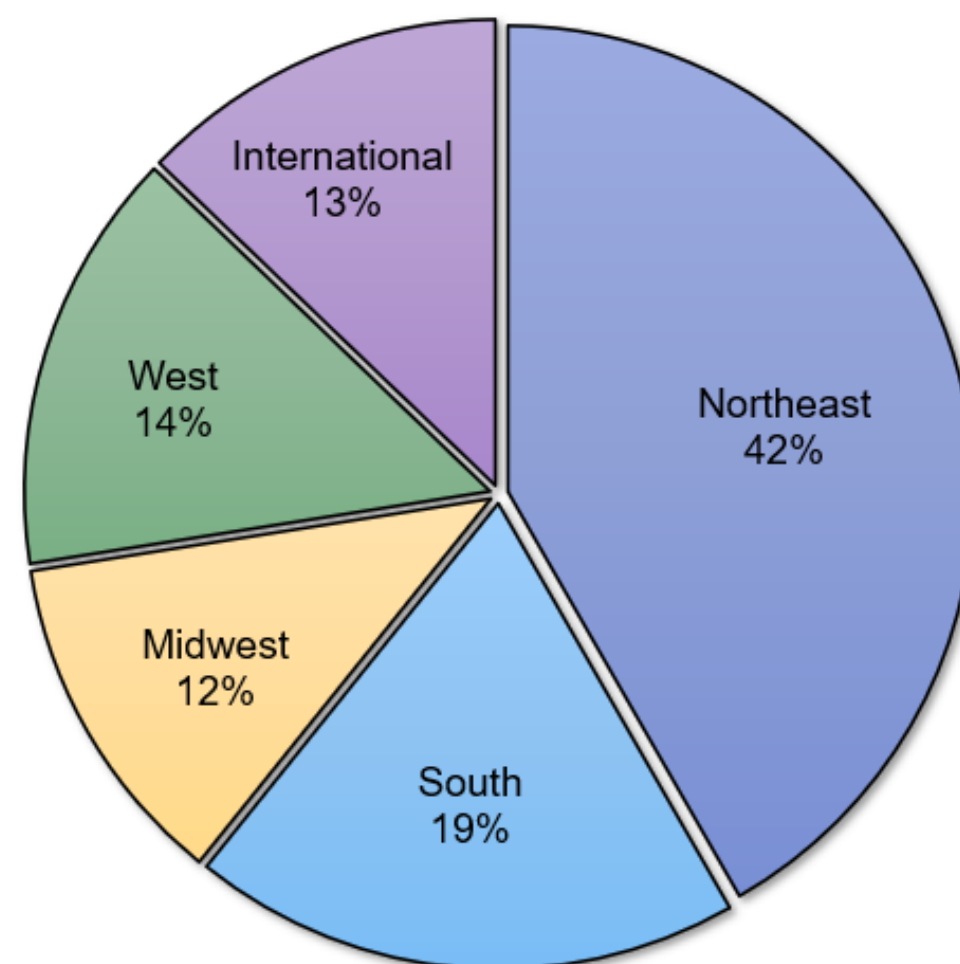

DISCUSSION

The ACLP Case Conference webinar series has successfully provided an internationally reaching educational platform for a variety of subspecialty CL topics. Each webinar incorporates a trainee presenter role and an expert discussant role allowing a mentorship opportunity, dissemination of subspecialty content, and showcasing of the many SIG and Subcommittees of ACLP.

RESULTS

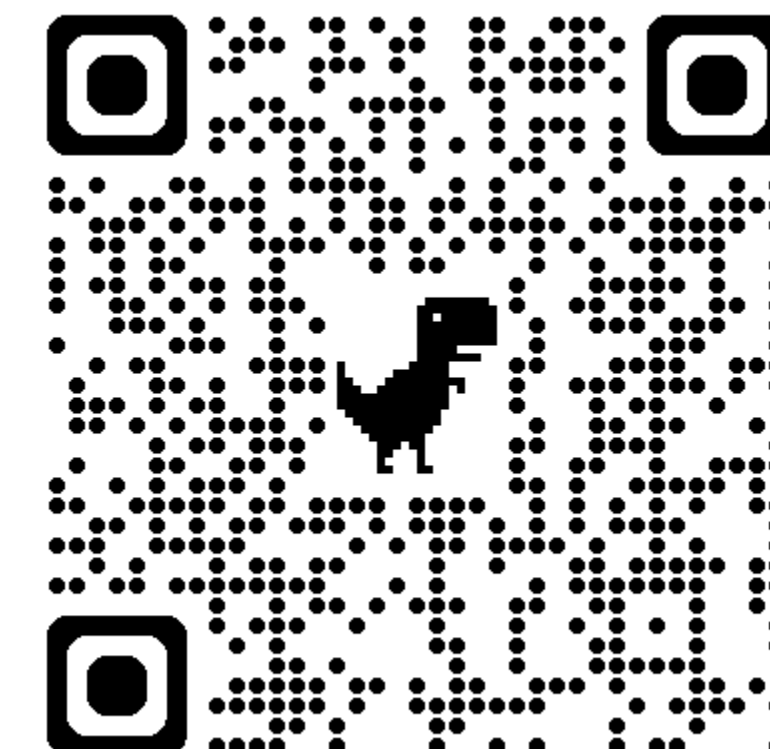

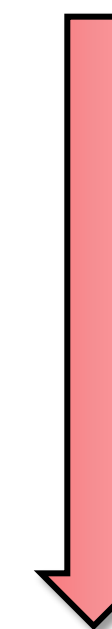

2845 Total International Registrants

Range: 93-271 per webinar; Average: 189 per webinar

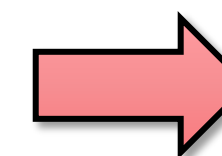

Medical Student
 Resident Fellow

Scan to see the growing series!

15 Webinars: 8 SIGS, 4 Subcommittees, 3 JACLP Manuscripts Represented

Interested in participating, representing your SIG, or helping out behind the scenes?

fipps.david@mayo.edu